Income Plan Is Outlined by Arnold

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Richard Arnold outlined Sunday night the four-point plan he would use in efforts to raise per capita income if elected to Congress in the 4th District.

The 31-year-old Texarkana attorney revealed his program in a television address from Texarkana.

Tuesday's election climaxes weeks of torrid campaigning by the five candidates in the district's 20 counties for the congressional seat vacated Feb. 2 by Oren Harris, who became a federal judge.

Voters will choose a party nominee from the Democratic field that includes Arnold, John Harris Jones of Pine Bluff, David Pryor of Camden, Dean Murphy of Texarkana and Chuck Honey of Prescott.

The four points Arnold listed in his income raising plan were:

1. Try to extend interstate highway construction beyond the scheduled expiration date of 1972. He specifically mentioned extension of Interstate 29 to serve southeast Arkansas, plus construction U.S. 71 and U.S. 82 in the district.

2. Create a governmental climate in which business can grow and profit for the "benefit of those thousands of hard-working people whose jobs and homes depend upon business and industry."

3. Work to restore prosperity to rural areas, which will benefit from loosened government curbs on production of commodities, which could be made possible by increased demand resulting from new foreign markets, population creases.

Arnold said that the district's per capita income is $1,581, well below the state average of $1,735, which is "about 35 per cent below the national average."

Two other candidates were active Sunday.

Pryor said at Camden that he is glad to have been criticized for using "political amateurs" in his campaign.

Pryor, 31, said that many of his workers had not participated in any previous political campaign, but they found the job exciting and satisfying.

Murphy said at a reception in Dermott that he would work to help improve the U.S. balance of payments.

"In one seven-day period recently, the gold stock fell $100 million, according to a report by the New York Federal Reserve Bank," Murphy said.

"That left our gold stock at $13.4 billion, the lowest level since Sept. 14, 1938."

Murphy said he was suggesting a program aimed at increasing exports, particularly agricultural products, as being one way to help the balance of

MRS. BERTA BENNETT

Mrs. Berta Bennett, 79, died Friday night in a local hospital. She was a life-long resident of Nevada and Hempstead Counties and a member of the Baptist church. She is survived by a son, C.L. (Dick) Bennett of Sutton, Ark.; two daughters, Mrs. H. O. Glasscock and Mrs. Hazel Sublett, both of Dallas, Texas; six grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. Sunday at Harmony Methodist Church, Elder Gordon Renshaw officiating. Interment was in Harmony Cemetery by Oakcrest Funeral Home.

payments situation.

He also said he thought the United States should curtail the flow of gold to France, "at least until she repays part of the huge debt she owes us."

The war in Viet Nam was a topic discussed by 4th District candidates Saturday.

Honey said in a statement at Prescott that President Johnson should let the Communists know "that this nation will not stand idly by if Americans are executed" while held prisoner in North Viet Nam.

He said strong action should be taken to prevent any attempt to try the captured Americans as war criminals.

Arnold sounded a similar theme at a political rally at Bryant, saying that the United States would unit "in a mighty effort to punish the Communists" if they harmed the Americans.

No matter how one feels about U.S. policy in Viet Nam, Arnold said, all Americans agree that the nation's fighting men must have the "utmost in military and physical backing."

Jones, in a television speech from Pine Bluff, said the fighting men need representation by someone who has been willing to share their dangers and hardships.

He said he was the only Democratic candidate in the race who had been in combat for the United States, and that two others in the race had not been in military service, much less combat.

W.R.'s Ghost Haunts Vote in Primary

By JOHN R. STARR

Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The specter of Winthrop Rockefeller will haunt the Democratic primary Tuesday as seven men vie to succeed Gov. Orval Faubus as the party's standard bearer.

Rockefeller is himself involved in a primary race, but he is expected to be the man the Democratic winner must angle in November in a year in which the Democratic nomination is no longer "tantamount" to election.

While Faubus is not himself a candidate for the first time since 1954, his administration and his political organization have been major issues in a grueling if not exciting two-month campaign.

A Democratic runoff Aug. 9 appeared certain. Polls reportedly show no candidate with more than 25 per cent of the vote. Fifty per cent is needed to avoid a runoff.

About 400,000 persons are expected to vote, perhaps as many as 50,000 of them in the GOP primary. Arkansas has 687,631 registered voters, a record for a primary election.

Sen. John L. McClellan and all three incumbent congressmen have opposition and there is a five-man race for the Democratic nomination in the 4th District where Rep. Oren Harris resigned in February to become a federal judge.

There are eight candidates for lieutenant governor, three for attorney general and a total of seven in three contested Supreme Court races.

Rockefeller's opponent is Gus McMillan of Sheridan, who ran for governor as a Democrat in 1954. Rockefeller says the Democrats put McMillan into the race for harassment.

In some respects, it has been the field against Frank Holt in the Democratic race for governor. At one time or another, each of the other candidates has referred to Holt as a "machine candidate." Jim Johnson, Sam Boyce and Kenneth Sulcer have dwelled on this aspect of the campaign.

Boyce, Sulcer and Johnson have also charged that the machine is backing Hays and Alford as well, in case Holt can't win.

Holt, Hays and Alford have denied any machine connections. Each as former friends of Faubus working for him.

The seventh candidate is Raymond Rebsamen, 68, a long-time business and civic leader from Little Rock who has conducted a limited campaign and promised only to put the state government on a businesslike basis.

Holt, 55, is a personable former prosecutor and attorney general who resigned from the state Supreme Court to make the race. He is undefeated in six campaigns for other offices, but he has never had major opposition.

Hays, 67, served in Congress from 1942 until his defeat by Alford in 1958. He then became emphasized his friendships in Washington in the campaign.

Alford, 50, was in Congress for four years, leaving to run unsuccessfully against Faubus in 1962. He is an eye doctor.

Johnson, 41, is a former state senator who gained a statewide following as a segregationist spokesman during racial troubles of the 1950s. He was elected to the Supreme Court in 1958 and resigned to make this race.

Boyce, 34, is prosecuting attorney in the 3rd Judicial District. He ran unsuccessfully for attorney general in 1962 and won a statewide following in 1965 as a Faubus critic during a year as president of the Arkansas Young Democrats.

Sulcer, 41, is serving his 14th year as a state representative. He says he is the only real candidate because only he filed for governor before Faubus announced his retirement in March.

Faubus, true to his promise to stay out of the primary, has made no public utterance for any candidate. But the others say Holt as the backing of Faubus' organization and the tacit blessing of the governor.

The Democratic candidates have agreed that the question of which could best carry the Democratic banner against Rockefeller should be one of the prime considerations in the voting.

ing.

Faubus warned them all that a mud-slinging campaign would set the winner up for Rockefeller in November.

Issues were never clearly developed because no topic of discussion was widely explored by the candidates.

Holt has answered charges about his machine connections by saying his public record would show he was free and unfettered.

Sam Boyce has talked about constitutional revision, reorganization of state and county governments and prison reform, but these subjects were generally ignored by the other candidates.

Everybody has promised improved education with higher salaries for teachers, increased welfare benefits, more and better highways, accelerated industrialization and increased emphasis on promotion of tourism.

The platforms were so much alike in many respects that there was much talk of stealing planks in the closing weeks of the campaign.

McClellan, who has not had an opponent since 1954, is opposed by Foster Johnson, a book salesman of Little Rock who has had trouble getting attention for his candidacy.

PRIMROSE PATH TO NOWHERE
Dear Helen: You said Patience is virtue to a bride wanting to get pregnant. How about for a woman wanting a husband.

I'm the girl in Apartment 2. I have him on his "golf days", and his "bowling night," and when his wife goes home to mother. For two years now he has said it will be just a little longer and then he'll find a way to be free. He says his wife goes into hysterics if he crosses her, and she is very sickly so he has to stay for the sake of the children.

The few times I've seen her, she didn't look sick, or even the hysterical type. Just smug. Am I as stupid as, right now, I think I am? — Always A Girl Friend, Never A Bride

Dear AGFNAB: You certainly are. This primrose path is strictly "dead end."

... And Patience is not always virtue — not when you have too much of one, too little of the other. — H.

Dear Helen: Are you crazy or something, telling a wife her husband should clear it with her before he takes off, on the invitation of his buddies?

The husband is the man of the house and should come and go as he pleases. Naturally, a wife should clear things with her husband before she makes plans, but I certainly would call a man henpecked if he calls his wife first before going out for an evening with the boys, or something. For a real he-man, that's the only way to travel!

—Call Me Sir
Dear S: ... Not with this real she-woman, it isn't! — H.

Dear Helen: They have Medicare already; next we'll get Dementia. That's fine, I'm all for it, being 66. But I have two dogs, five cats and a parrot.

When will they start "Pet-care?" — For Socialized Vets

Dear FSV: Please! ... Even the Great Society has its limitations. — H.

RENT A WEDDING DRESS?

Dear Helen: The bridegroom and his ushers, etc., hardly ever own their own "monkey suits." Why can't the bride and her attendants rent a wedding dress and bridesmaids gowns?

We have been shopping for wedding dresses with our two daughters who plan to be married in September. You hardly even start for under $150, whereas the men get off for around $10 each — and that's bad enough considering they all have dark suits they could wear if "etiquette" didn't demand a tux.

I asked one of the clerks how to care for the wedding dress afterwards and she said several cleaners specialize in putting them in "Caskets" — honest that's the word they use — with special cleaning, folding, yellow-proof paper and done up so they can be displayed forever without taking them out of the casket. Cost: around $25.00. Yikes! For what? Total: $175 for a dress you'll never wear again.

Just think, renting a wedding dress, a girl would save the down payment on a houseful of furniture. — For It

Dear For: Others are for it, too. That's why most large cities have rentals for brides as well as bridegrooms. The Tuxedo Rental Service in your town can direct you to its female equivalent. Start telephoning. — H.

Dear Helen: What do you think of grown children who give you 15 yards of top soil for Father's Day? — Pop

Dear Pop: Unless they spread the top soil and plant it, they're about as thoughtful as the kids who give their Mother a ham for her day, and all drop in for dinner. — H.

Rains Douse Lights in the Astrodome

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Nobody ever thought they would have to halt a game in Houston's Astrodome while it was raining, but it happened Sunday.

The delay came in the eighth inning of the game between Houston and Pittsburgh as rain splattered the outside of the dome. However, that's as far as the rain got.

Under the dome everything was dry. Everything wasn't bright, though.

By coincidence, a power failure knocked out some lights and the umpires wanted them repaired before the game continued.

The Pirates, on the other hand, didn't have a power failure. They continued their torrid hitting, whipping the Astros 11-6 and maintaining a one-game lead in the National League pennant race.

The light failure came shortly after the Pirates broke a 5-5 deadlock with a four-run rally in the seventh.

Repairmen checked the situation but decided the work would have to wait until after the game.

As far as the Astros were concerned, though, the damage the Pirates had done the inning before was irreparable.

In other NL games, San Francisco defeated Philadelphia 4-1, Los Angeles swept New York 5-0 and 6-0, St. Louis trimmed Chicago 7-4 in 10 innings after losing 10-7 and Cincinnati edged Atlanta 4-3 in 10 innings before bowing 5-4, also in 10.

In the American League, Chicago stopped Baltimore 4-0, Detroit nipped Cleveland 2-1 in 10 after losing 3-0, New York swept California 9-1 and 4-1, Minnesota beat Boston 4-2 and Washington took Kansas City 6-2 and 7-4.

The Pirates' hitting was almost as hot as the lights. Down 4-1, they scored three runs in the fourth inning, the last two on Bob Bailey's homer.

Willie Mays hit his 22nd homer of the season and 527th of his career in the Giants' victory over Philadelphia, Tito Fuentes, whose single triggered a two-run first inning, also singled before Mays connected.

Don Drysdale pitched a six-hitter and hit his 29th career homer in Los Angeles' opening-game victory. John Kennedy and John Roseboro also homered for the Dodgers.

In the nightcap, Joe Moeller and Phil Regan combined to blank the Mets on five hits. Lou Johnson and Tommy Davis each drove in two Dodger runs with singles.

Chicago's George Altman collected three hits in the first game, including a fifth-inning home run that snapped a 4-4 tie and ignited a four-run rally.

St. Louis came back for the second-game triumph on Lou Brock's three-run homer in the 10th. Brock put the Cardinals ahead 4-3 in the eighth when he scored from first on Jerry Buchek's two-out single, but Adolfo Phillips tied it with a homer in the Cubs' half of the eighth.

Vada Pinson raced all the way home from first on Dick Kelley's wild pitch and Joe Torre's wild throw in the 10th inning, boosting Cincinnati past Atlanta. Pinson earlier hit a home run.

The Braves won the 10-inning nightcap on Joe Torre's second homer of the game. Torre drove in three runs in all while Hank Aaron drove in two with a homer and a single. Gordy Coleman knocked in two Cincinnati runs.

Fighting Irish

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Notre Dame has sent the most players into the National Football League.

Training camp rosters over-erans only show the Irish with 22 graduates. Michigan State has 16. Southern California 15, Wisconsin 14 and Ohio State and LSU 13 each.

Good Luck

CARLISLE, Pa. — (NEA)—Safetyman Paul Krause of the Washington Redskins is most est about his profession.

"The truth is," he says, "luck plays an important part in interceptions. I know there is hard work involved and a certain degree of agility, but without luck there would be far fewer passes intercepted."

'Teen-Ager Is Western Gal Winner

BARRINGTON, Ill. (AP) — In a sub-par 35-hole duel that should be recorded as a historic one in the 66-year history of the Women's Western Amateur Golf Tournament, teen-ager Peggy Conley pulled a major upset by defeating Barbara Fay Boddie, the 1964-65 winner, 2 and 1.

Barbara Fay, 26, of Shreveport, La., accepted defeat graciously Saturday and said:

"Peggy must have eaten horseshradish for breakfast. She certainly deserved to win this one."

Over the rolling Barrington Hills Country Club course, Miss Conley, 19, of Spokane, Wash., an art student at the University of Washington, was seven under the regulation for the distance of her match. Mrs. Boddie, daughter of a golf pro and wife of his assistant, was six under par.

Peggy was the national junior champion in 1964 and a member of the Curtis Cup team this year.

Pole Vault Mark Goes to 17 and 6

By FRANK O'REILLY
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two world records were broken and three American marks fell, but a pair of weary decathlon men gasping through the shadows of evening climaxed the drama.

Track and field stars in the two-day Los Angeles Times International Games were plentiful Saturday and Sunday.

John Pennel set a world pole vault mark of 17 feet, 6 1/4 inches; Australian distance phenomenon Ron Clark was a double winner at 5,000 and 10,000 meters; Jim Ryun won the half-mile; and the U.S. 1,600-meter relay team clipped a second off the world record.

But as the sun set on the rim of Memorial Coliseum Sunday night, 25,000 of the 34,150 attending remained. Russ Rodge and Bill Toomey, after consecutive afternoons of exertion in 90-degree heat, faced the concluding 1,500 meters with a possible world decathlon mark in sight.

Loomey holds the pending mark of 8,234 points, set in Salina, Kan., earlier this month. He broke fast and set the pace.

As the track announcer called the lap times, the crowd stood to cheer the struggling runners to the tape. Toomey crossed the finish line and collapsed into the arms of teammates. Hodge followed.

Both had come just short of the needed times, but Hodge, who missed by only .8 seconds, was the winner with 8,230 points, and was voted the meet's outstanding performer. Toomey trailed with 8,219.

The only world mark to be broken Sunday was the 1,600-meter relay standard. The U.S. team of Bob Frey, Lee Evans, Tommie Smith and Theron Lewis clocked a 2:59.6, eclipsing the 3:00.7 run by the American team in the 1964 Olympics.

Smith, who returned to competition after a leg injury, won the 200 meters in 20.5 before racing an incredible 43.8, 400-meter leg in the relay.

Ryun ran a record-breaking 3:51.3 mile last weekend in Berkeley, Calif., but was unenthusiastic about his half-mile time of 1:46.2 and 800-meter clocking of 1:45.5 Sunday.

The 19-year-old Kansas freshman said, "I wasn't really sure about getting a record, since it's pretty hard to get yourself keyed up every week. Something went wrong with the pace, and then I felt heavy the last 200 yards."

Pennel's vault broke the record of 17-5 1/2, set by his apartment roommate Bob Neaglen earlier this spring.

The three American marks were set Saturday before 27,846. Triple jumper Art Walker of Los Angeles hopped, stepped and jumped 54-11, exceeding the 54-7 1/2 he registered a week before in Berkeley.

Charlotte Cooke, the 18-year-old high school student from Los Angeles, was timed in 2:03.8 for 500 meters and 2:04.6 for 600 yards, bettering her previous mark of 2:03.7 and 2:05.0, respectively.

Stengel and Williams in Hall of Fame

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Casey Stengel and Ted Williams were formally inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame today.

Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert presided at the 10 a.m., EDT, ceremony marking the admission to the Hall of Stengel, one of the game's most successful managers, and Williams, the last of the .400 hitters.

Stengel, who won 10 American League pennants, and seven world championships in 12 years with the New York Yankees, was named to the Hall in a special election held in March after the normal five-year, post-retirement waiting period had been waived. Casey retired last August as manager of the New York Mets.

Williams, now No. 4 on the all-time home run list, was voted in with 93.3 per cent of the ballots cast by 10-year veterans of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Ted finished his 19-year career in 1960 with a lifetime batting average of .344 and 521 homers. He won six American League batting titles and captured the Triple Crown — batting, homer and RBI titles — in 1942 and 1947. In 1941, he hit .406.

Germans and Soviet Meet at Soccer

LONDON (AP) — West Germany and Russia were set to fight out the first semifinal of the World Soccer Cup today — and everything pointed to a tough match between two teams who like to play it hard.

The other semifinal is between England and Portugal Tuesday night.

An army of about 10,000 German fans was expected to converge on Liverpool to cheer on their team. The German supporters have steadily grown in numbers as Uwe Seeler and his squad have reached the round of four with the help of victories over Switzerland, Spain and Uruguay.

Sox Discover They Let Go Wrong Man

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bruce Howard, once best known as Denny McLain's ex-roommate, is suddenly the Chicago White Sox's ex-mistake.

Back in 1963, the Sox had to decide whether to hold on to Howard — who beat Baltimore 4-0 Sunday — or to option him out in favor of McLain, who also was on the club.

They chose Howard, and McLain was snapped up by Detroit where he won 16 games last season and 13 during the first half of this. Howard struggled to a 9-8 record in 1965 and blisters on his fingers kept him from effectiveness the first months of the current season.

But McLain, who threw three perfect innings in the All-Star Game, has fallen on evil times of late — he lost his third game in a row Sunday — and the hottest pitcher in the league at the moment is ex-roomie, ex-mis-McLain, in the meantime, was being shelled in the Tigers' first-game loss to Cleveland 3-0. Detroit came back to take the nightcap 2-1 in 10 innings. Other American League action saw New York take a pair from California 9-1 and 4-1, Washington sweep two from Kansas City, 6-2 and 7-4 and Minnesota beat Boston 4-2.

In the National League, Chicago beat St. Louis 10-7 in the first of two, then lost the nightcap 7-4 in 10 innings. Los Angeles took two from the Mets, 5-0 and 6-0 and Cincinnati won the first of two from Atlanta 4-3 and then lost 5-4 with both games going 10 innings. San Francisco beat Philadelphia 4-1 and Pittsburgh best Houston 11-6.

In snapping the league-leading Orioles' win streak at seven games Sunday, Howard raised his record to 5-1 and lowered his ERA to 2.48. He has allowed five earned runs and 15 hits in his last four starts, two of which he won on four-hitters. Joe Azcue drove in two runs with a homer and a single and Steve Hargan gave Detroit nine hits in pacing Cleveland to its first-game win. Mickey Stanley drove in a run with a double in the 10th inning giving the Tigers the second game.

Tom Tresh hit a grand-slam homer in the first game and a solo blast in the second in the Yankees' double win. In the first game, Mickey Mantle hit his 20th homer of the season and the 493rd of his career, tying him with Lou Gehrig for sixth on the all-time home-run list. Joe Pepitone added his 23rd homer in the first game.

Washington escaped the league's cellar with its two victories over the Athletics. Roger Repoz hit a homer in the first game and Ken Harrelson and Paul Casanova each hit one in the nightcap.

A two-run home run by Cesar Tovar sent the Twins to their victory over Boston. Jim Perry got the win, the 20th over Boston in his career. Tony Oliva, batting champ the last two years, got two hits to edge up within one point of the Orioles' Russ Snyder, who leads the league at .330.

Travelers Beat El Paso by 12 to 10

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Arkansas, down nine runs in the fourth inning, stormed back for 13 hits and a 12-10 Texas League baseball victory over El Paso here Sunday night.

El Paso had the Travelers 10-1 after four, but hurlers Lee Newton and Ed Cecil held the Sun Kings to one hit the last five innings while their teammates brought in 11 runs in the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth innings.

Arkansas got five runs on five hits and two errors in the seventh.

Elsewhere in the league, Anarillo took Austin 8-1, and Dallas-Fort Worth scored a 4-3 triumph over Albuquerque.

Toronto Doctor Believes Growing Pains Are Real

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

When a child complained of pains in his legs 60 years ago, every grandmother knew the child was suffering from growing pains. She was sure the child would outgrow the pains and advised all concerned to forget about it. This proved to be a bad policy, because in many children the pains were an early sign of rheumatic fever or some other disease that should not be neglected.

In others the cause might be flat feet, weak ankles or muscular cramps and the belief that there was no such thing as simple growing pains gained wide acceptance. Now Dr. James E. Boone of Toronto, after a thorough study of the leg pains that occur at night in children from 2 to 17, has convinced himself that growing pains really do exist. They are most common between the ages 8 to 12 and occur equally in boys and girls. They are seen chiefly in children who are thin and who have overprotective parents.

The pains are deep and their exact location is poorly defined. Dr. Boone believes the cause is the stretching of tendons and ligaments as the bones increase in length. He emphasizes the fact that, if your child has swelling, redness, tenderness to deep pressure, muscle spasms or limitation of the full range of motion in his legs, you must suspect some organic disease as the cause. Also, if the pains are present in the daytime and cause the child to limit his physical activity, the chances are that the pains are due to disease and not merely to growing.

If organic disease can be ruled out, give the child a dose of aspirin appropriate for his age when he complains of leg pains at night. No other treatment is necessary.

Q—Three times in the past six weeks our 7-year-old son has walked in his sleep. When we waken him, he does not seem to know where he is at first. What causes this? Is there any treatment?

A—Sleepwalking is more common in children than in adults. The sleepwalker's eyes are open and he usually avoids bumping into furniture or injuring himself. The sight of an unfamiliar object may wake him up. If you speak to him and tell him quietly to go back to bed, he will most likely show no sign of hearing you. You should, therefore, gently lead him back to bed, preferably without waking him. Whether you awaken him or not, he will not remember the episode next morning. The cause is believed to be overstimulation just before going to bed or emotional tension. The best treatment is avoidance of such causes.

Actors Portray Working Class

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Jack Sternbach, University of Wisconsin sociologist, says American working class men are too often portrayed by movie actors "who sweep women off their feet, torn undershirts and all."

In fact, said Prof. Sternbach at a seminar Thursday, working class men are "lousy lovers" because they are insensitive to their wives' feelings and "live essentially outside the home with their buddies."

However, they are honest, he said. "The middle class man tends to lie and boast of his achievements. In the working class no one has any illusions."

3 on Rotary Club's Program

"A Year of Double Trouble" was the program at the Rotary Club Friday at the Town and Country. It would well have been entitled "Be Prepared," for the Federal Extension Service film which was shown illustrated several forms of natural disasters which could befall a community and emphasized the necessity of having knowledge and preparation in dealing with them.

County Agent Calvin Caldwell showed the film after being introduced by program chairman Cecil Bittle. Dave Peters, City Engineer, a native of Memphis, and one of the newer members of the club, made a short talk that sketched his life and family.

Bob Carney of Lewisville was a visiting Rotarian, and club guests were Bill McWeeny, Houston; Cecil Smith, Little Rock; Alston Hammons, Miami, Fla.; and J. E. Pruden, Sr., Sidney, O.

Struck Air Line Losses in Millions

By VERN HAUGLAND
WASHINGTON (AP) — The five airlines closed down by the machinists' strike estimated today their revenue losses so far total almost $126 million.

They estimated their striking and furloughed employees have lost almost $29 million in pay since machinists walked off their jobs 18 days ago.

The airlines — Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United — listed the estimates as their representatives and those of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists prepared to resume negotiations.

A one-hour session Sunday produced no progress, Asst. Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds reported. He said the union and management were still far apart on all the issues.

Reynolds said a new disagreement involving Northwest Airlines' military and flights did not figure in the talks here.

He said that dispute would be taken up privately by the airline and the union, Northwest said three of its military flights were delayed Saturday night by the refusal of aircraft crews to cross picket lines in spite of an agreement that military flights would continue throughout the strike.

A union spokesman at negotiations here said he had not been informed of the difficulty and the airline had made no request for union help.

The airlines made public a "fact sheet" giving these figures:

— With the cancellation of 4,100 flights a day, about 154,000 domestic passengers normally flown daily by the five airlines are forced to find alternate transportation.

— The strike has shut down 61 per cent of the major airline service and 79 per cent of the nation's air mail capacity.

— Key routes, such as New York-Miami, Chicago-Miami, and New York-Los Angeles, have had their service reduced by two-thirds. Service between Boston, New York and Washington has been slashed by 85 per cent.

Uneasy Peace Hovers Over Cleveland

By AL DOPKING
CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — White and Negro leaders looked today for ways to prevent a new outbreak of racial violence in Cleveland's East Side slums, wracked with a week of sniping and incendiary fires before order was restored.

Police and National Guardsmen, helped by a heavy rain, maintained the peace for the second straight night, prompting Police Chief Richard R. Wagner to say: "We are not prophesying or predicting but we are hoping the riots are over."

The rioting, which began last Monday night, left 4 dead, nearly 50 injured and heavy property damage.

As the unrest abated, white and Negro leaders got together over the weekend and formed a broader base of understanding in an effort to deal with some of the problems at the root of the violence.

Baxter Hill, president of the Cleveland chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality, called the new group "a step in the right direction."

"There will be peace in the Negro community now," he predicted, "but we expect some positive effort soon to solve the problems of rat infestation, of litter and garbage and of unemployment in the Negro areas."

The first material step was taken today with the establishment of an employment center to find work for those who had lost their jobs at stores burned and looted during the week of violence.

Chief Wagner is expected to recommend withdrawal soon of National Guard troops. Relative peace began to develop Saturday night, and Sunday night was even quieter than normally for the area.

Fewer police and guardsmen patrolled the Hough area, a predominantly Negro slum section where the rioting started, and bordering neighborhoods. These included a community known as "Little Italy." A Negro was killed between it and Hough early Saturday. Three white men were arrested in connection with the shooting.

Col. Robert Canterbury indicated that it was likely the 2,000 guardsmen on duty in the riot areas would be pulled out gradually.

ually. The heavy rain Sunday night flooded several streets and basements in the Hough area. Few people were on the streets. Mayor Ralph S. Locher, noting the situation had materially improved, said he would meet with the new biracial group as soon as he was convinced "the rioting in Hough has been suppressed."

Sunday in Hough was much like Sunday in any other community. Some families lounged peacefully on porches of their homes and others went to church.

Many sermons followed the line of that of the Rev. Dr. A. Henson Jarman of the Fellowship Baptist Church. He told his congregation nonviolence was the only way for a minority group to achieve social justice.

The week-long racial strife started Monday night at a tavern in the heart of Hough over the refusal to serve ice water and reached riot proportions when mobs swarmed into the streets, burning, looting and shooting.

Hurricanes Prowl the East Coast

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hurricane Dorothy, which started out as the season's fourth tropical storm, thrashed Atlantic waters with top winds of 75 miles an hour today while Ella, still a poorly organized tropical storm, developed far to the south.

Weather forecasters said neither posed an immediate threat to any land area.

Dorothy remained almost stationary about 1,200 miles east of Bermuda. She was expected to move slowly to the north-northeast.

The Miami Weather Bureau said Dorothy's gales extended 325 miles to the north and 225 miles south of the center.

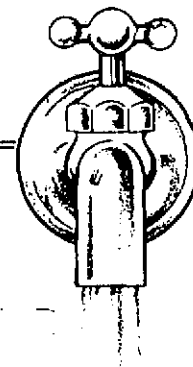

Chief forecaster Gordon Dunn said Dorothy was born unusually far to the north.

Ella developed in the south — east of the Lesser Antilles. Her center was reported by the San Juan Weather Bureau about 675 miles east of San Juan.

Ella's top winds — 50 miles an hour in squalls — moved west northwest at about 20 miles an hour. Forecasters said she likely would turn to the northwest and slow down.

Confused Over
Election? Well,
We Are, Too

Traditionally this has been an outspoken newspaper and usually we try to spell out for our readers the issues and how the candidates stack up in our opinion. If you're confused by the 1966 Arkansas Primary you aren't alone — so is this newspaper and a lot of others.

It is the obligation of the press to help its readers by debating the issues and the candidates. And over the years it is an obligation we have discharged, whether the local public agreed or disagreed with our judgment.

But 1966 has been a tough and tedious period for this writer and all the staff. The Star has undergone a complete revolution in printing, moving in a new plant and moving out the old one — a job we are just now winding up. First there was the introduction of the new press and the offset printing system. And then, within the last couple of weeks, we decommissioned all our Linotypes and switched to "cold type" machine. — which you have noted from the new news and headline styles.

All this has taken up the time a newspaper usually gives to the study of campaign issues and candidates. And so election eve finds your editor with no more information on how to vote Tuesday than the average reader.

Furthermore, this is vacation time and all of us are doing double duty. Managing Editor Paul H. Jones is on a fishing trip with Mrs. Jones, and the old man is on the news desk himself.

So we're just as confused over politics as you are. Our apologies for not being the newspaper we ought to be — and a promise not to let it happen again. After all, the old press lasted 40 years — and if we have to go through another mechanical change like this it will be another 40 years. . . . And someone else will be making apologies by that time.

Gen. Joseph Stilwell on Lost Plane

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Brig. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell Jr., commander of the Army's Special Warfare Center at Ft. Bragg, N.C., was aboard the twin-engine DC3 aircraft missing in flight between San Francisco and Honolulu, his mother said today.

His mother, widow of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell of Pacific war fame, confirmed at her Carmel home that he was on the plane. At the Presidio of San Francisco, it was learned Stilwell had been invited by a long-time personal friend, Hal Grimes, to make the flight. Grimes was piloting the missing plane.

A massive search for the plane is under way about 500 miles west of San Francisco.

Mrs. Stilwell said her son went on the flight as copilot. He has a pilot's license and was working to obtain his instrument rating.

Gemini 10 Astronauts Go Home

HOUSTON, Tex. (A) — The record-breaking Gemini 10 astronauts flew home today for a happy reunion with loved ones and to finish describing for officials details of three days in space.

Navy Cmdr. John W. Young and Air Force Maj. Michael Collins, America's newest space walkers, bounded off a space agency plane into the waiting arms of their wives shortly after midnight after a delayed flight from Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Also on hand were several fellow astronauts.

The spacemen arrived about four hours late at Ellington Air Force Base. A plane sent to Cape Kennedy to fly them home developed an oil leak on the way to Florida, and another had to be dispatched from Huntsville, Ala.

Young and Collins, both 35, splashed back to earth Thursday after scoring the world's first dual rendezvous with two satellites.

Speck Case Goes to the Grand Jury

CHICAGO (AP) — Evidence the state will use in its case against Richard Speck, accused of strangling and stabbing eight nurses, was scheduled to be presented to the Cook County grand jury today.

State's Atty. Daniel Ward said Sunday, "We anticipate the presentation of this case to the grand jury Monday."

Speck, 24, is confined to the city jail hospital where he has been since his arrest July 17. His condition was reported Sunday as satisfactory.

Speck is charged with murdering Gloria Jean Davy, 22, who police believe was the first of the eight nurses killed when an intruder forced his way July 14 into the South Side townhouse where the nurses lived.

Police arrested Speck July 17 at Cook County Hospital where he was being treated for self-inflicted wounds. He was taken to city jail hospital where he youngest ever, barely old suffered a seizure that was first enough for the Miss America believed to be a heart attack.

House Clause 30 Children Civil Rights Focal Point

By JOHN BECKLER
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House takes up a highly controversial civil rights bill today with its members in an uneasy mood due to racial violence in some Northern cities.

The bill would arm the government with several new weapons to combat racial discrimination, but nearly all the controversy surrounds a proposal aimed at improving housing opportunities for Negroes.

Although it is much milder than the outright ban on discrimination in housing the administration requested, and would leave most individually owned residential homes untouched, the provision has been bitterly attacked, particularly in the North.

A quick test comes when the House votes after an hour's debate whether it actually wants to consider the bill. If it does, a week of debate is in prospect.

This is the first of the five civil rights bills Congress has considered in the last 10 years that would have a major impact on the North. As a result it has much less support than its predecessors.

Further clouding its chances is widespread confusion among members over the actual effect of the housing provision, adopted as a compromise by the Judiciary Committee.

Aimed mainly at real estate agents, builders and others in the business of selling or renting housing, the provision exempts homeowners if they engage in no more than two real estate transactions in a year.

Its author, Rep. Charles M. Mathias Jr., R-Md., says a real estate agent acting on behalf of an exempt owner also would be exempt.

But many others, including Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, real estate lobbyists and civil rights leaders, disagree. They say the language is unclear, that a homeowner appears to be exempt only if he sells or rents his house himself without using an agent, and that agents are not exempt under any circumstances.

Mathias is willing to have clarifying language added to carry out his intent, but civil rights groups oppose such a change as further weakening of an already watered-down provision.

The months of wrangling over the housing provision have obscured other provisions of the bill, dealing with jury selection, school desegregation and protection of Negroes' rights.

The bill would set up a new procedure for selecting federal jurors to insure against discrimination and authorize the attorney general to seek federal court action against state jury systems proven to be discriminatory.

The attorney general would be authorized to take direct action to desegregate schools instead of waiting for complaints to be filed, as present law provides.

Die in Bus Accident

LIMBURG, Germany (AP) — Thirty Belgian school children were killed today when their holiday bus crashed off a bridge and plunged more than 10 yards from the Frankfurt-Cologne autobahn, police reported.

Twelve more children were reported seriously injured. Police said the bus, taking more than 40 children home from a summer camp, landed on a road below the autobahn at Idstein, about 27 miles northwest of Frankfurt.

They said the bus driver was killed and all the survivors were seriously injured.

The children, between 10 and 17 years old, were returning to Belgium when their bus broke through the bridge side and somersaulted to the road below. The heavy vehicle came to rest on its roof and was crushed by the impact.

LIMBURG, Germany (AP) — A bus taking 40 Belgian school children home from a holiday crashed off an autobahn bridge today killing 31, police reported.

They said 28 boys and girls, aged 10 to 17, and teachers and the driver were killed in the crash, one of the worst accidents on the Frankfurt-Cologne superhighway. All survivors were seriously injured, police said.

The bus broke through guard rails on a bridge at Idstein, about 45 kilometers northwest of Frankfurt, and somersaulted down more than 30 feet, landing with its wheels up on a road below.

The roof supports of the bus collapsed under the impact. Police were at first unable to determine how many dead and injured were in amongst the tangle of bodies, baggage and wreckage.

Police said the party was from Brussels, where the bus was registered.

A team of a dozen doctors gave first aid to the injured and dying children as they were freed from the wreck by firemen.

A Germany army officer was also killed in an accident at the scene of the crash, where a traffic jam formed caused by drivers stopping to look at the wreckage. A car skidded across the dividing strip into the oncoming lane and hit the officer's car, police reported.

Negro for Viet Nam Policies

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — Willie Hunter is a 17-year-old Negro who is demonstrating his support for U.S. policy in Viet Nam by hiking from Georgia to Washington.

The high school student says he is not a member of any civil rights groups. He plans overnight stops with friends along Interstate 85 through South Carolina and North Carolina to the nation's capital.

He rode a bus from his Atlanta, Ga., home to the South Carolina line to start his long hike Sunday. Hunter spent Sunday night with friends in Greenville.

The youth is carrying a knapsack containing the suit he hopes to wear if he is able to see President Johnson in Washington.

He says he wants to ask the President to speak at a rally Aug. 5 at the Lincoln Memorial.

U.S. Power There But Not Policy

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — The commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet, Vice Adm. John J. Hyland, said today the United States has at its disposal a military force capable of totally destroying North Viet Nam "but our government does not have this policy now."

Hyland, whose carrier planes are bombing North Viet Nam daily, told a news conference that American air strikes on fuel depots near Hanoi and Haiphong "without question have hurt the enemy." But he said he didn't think U.S. planes would bomb Hanoi "for a long time to come."

Captive U.S. Pilots Will Not Be Tried, Says N. Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department withheld comment today on a cable from North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh to the Columbia Broadcasting System declaring there is "no trial in view" for captured American airmen.

CBS had sent a message Thursday to the North Vietnamese leader asking whether he had decided to place the airmen on trial. Ho's four-word reply, in English, was received Sunday.

The Hanoi government had indicated earlier that the captured pilots would be tried as war criminals. The Pentagon says about 45 Americans are captives in North Viet Nam and contends they should be treated as prisoners of war.

Roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman again cautioned Hanoi Sunday against going through with threats to try the Americans, but declined to predict what sanctions the United States would invoke if the trials were held.

Harriman, appearing on a locally televised program, "Meeting of the Minds," on WRC, also indicated that Hanoi has shown no willingness to exchange the U.S. airmen in the North for several hundred North Vietnamese prisoners held in the South.

But the ambassador, who heads U.S. efforts in behalf of the American prisoners, said "there has been some movement" in efforts to free some 18 GIs held by Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., said Sunday in Chicago that Hanoi would violate its own pledge for safe treatment of prisoners if it does try the U.S. airmen.

Pucinski displayed a leaflet printed in both English and Vietnamese and signed "South Viet Nam Liberation Army."

"Obviously, you are a prisoner of war. You have no rights and no responsibilities to observe the code of conduct of the U.S. Army," the leaflet said in

Saigon's Outskirts Hit by Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong guerrillas, striking before dawn, attacked nine isolated outposts almost within earshot of the South Vietnamese capital early today.

The wave of hit-and-run attacks south of Saigon was a Communist response to the large-scale ground and air operations elsewhere in the country by American, Korean and South Vietnamese troops.

In the far north just below the demilitarized zone, U.S. Marines continued to press into the rugged hills and deep jungles where 698 North Vietnamese regulars have been reported killed in an 11-day sweep.

The U.S. command in Saigon said the fighting had tapered off after rear-guard North Vietnamese troops inflicted heavy losses on a company of Marines. The enemy kept up harassing fire during the night but the bulk of the North Vietnamese 324B Division appeared to have evaded the Marine sweep by fleeing toward Laos.

An American spokesman in Saigon said the division had been badly chewed up.

The harried North Vietnamese regulars caught a rain of bombs this afternoon from high altitude B52s. The Air Force said the B52 raid from Guam, the third in South Viet Nam today, hit a suspected regimental command post only two miles south of the 17th Parallel.

The nine guerrilla attacks south of Saigon were aimed at small outposts held by lightly armed South Vietnamese militia forces. Starting a few hours after midnight the Viet Cong began harassing posts strung in a crescent about 16 to 25 miles south of the city.

Most of the attacks were limited to mortar fire or machine-gun bursts from the darkness. The Viet Cong attempted to overrun two posts held by 25 or fewer South Vietnamese.

Finish Fight by Seven for Governorship

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A grueling two-month campaign ends Tuesday as seven men vie for the Democratic nomination for Arkansas governor in a primary in which the administration of Gov. Orval E. Faubus has been an issue.

Winthrop Rockefeller, brother of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, is seeking the Republican gubernatorial nomination and is expected to be the man the GOP picks to oppose the Democratic winner in the November election.

With Faubus not a candidate for the first time since 1954, a runoff between the top two Democratic candidates seems assured. A candidate would need more than 50 per cent of the vote to escape a runoff Aug. 9. Polls reportedly show no candidate has more than 25 per cent.

About 400,000 of the state's 687,631 registered voters are expected to vote with about an eighth of the anticipated turnout voting in the GOP primary.

Faubus, who defeated Rockefeller two years ago in the state's first real interparty fight since Reconstruction, said he would not take part in the primary and he has made no public utterances for any candidate.

However, Rockefeller and some Democratic candidates for governor have sought to make use of some incidents that occurred in this Faubus term.

These include the building of a new Faubus home at his hometown of Huntsville, with estimates of its cost ranging from the governor's $70,000 to the GOP's $250,000; the granting by state officials of some $2.5 million in secret pay raises — which later were rescinded — for highway department employees, and substantial increases in auto insurance rates by state officials, also later rescinded.

The big question has been whether the political organization that has backed Faubus for most of his 12 years in office is behind any candidate in this race.

Several candidates have charged that Frank Holt of Little Rock, a 55-year-old former attorney general and State Supreme Court justice, has machine backing. Holt has denied the charge.

Candidates Jim Johnson of Conway, Sam Joyce of Newport, and Kenneth Sulcer of Osceola have broadened the machine talk to include Dale Alford, 50, an eye surgeon from Little Rock, and Brooks Hays, 67, a former congressman and adviser to Presidents John F. Kennedy and Johnson. They say the machine is backing Alford and Hays in case Holt can't win.

Johnson, 41, is a former state senator and Supreme Court justice who gained a statewide following as a segregationist spokesman during racial troubles of the 1950s. He ran unsuccessfully against Faubus in 1956.

Boyce, 34, is a prosecuting attorney who was a Faubus critic during a year as president of the Arkansas Young Democrats. Sulcer, 41, served 14 years as a state representative and was the only candidate to file before Faubus announced his retirement in March.

The seventh candidate is Raymond Rebsamen, 68, a Little Rock businessman and civic leader.

Milwaukee Lives Up to Its Beer

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — The Milwaukee area has a beer-brewing reputation to uphold, and the firefighters in suburban Germantown have a fire station to support.

The department's 59th annual fund-raising picnic Sunday was evidently a success. Germantown fire officials said crowds at the polka-dancing, carnival affair drank about 4,000 gallons of beer.

Jackie Kennedy, Children Return

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her two children arrived back in New York today from a seven-week vacation in Hawaii, the latest in a series of trips that have swept them across three continents in the past 18 months.

They barely had time to say hello to New York before they were off again — this time to Mrs. Kennedy's mother's home in Newport, R.I., where they will attend the wedding of the former first lady's sister, Janet Auchincloss.

DWI Cases Crowd Week-End Docket

Drunkness and liquor law violations dominated the Hope police docket over the week-end. Arrested for driving while intoxicated were:

Emma Thomas, Negro; E. R. Fravelle and Elvin T. Bobo; Lonnie Ragland, and I. B. Elliott, Negroes.

Gracie Lindsey, Negro, was held on a charge of transporting more than the legal limit of beer and liquor.

Corene Noble, Negro, was charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

Henry Robinson and Cecil Trent, Negroes, were booked for drunkenness.

Luci, Hubby to Attend Texas U.

By FRANCES LEWINE
WASHINGTON (AP) — Luci Johnson and Patrick J. Nugent will attend the University of Texas after their Aug. 6 wedding and live in a rented "dream house" in Austin, Tex. They think they can get a little more privacy there, the President's daughter told a news conference shared with her mother in the White House state dining room Monday. She said she was experiencing the feelings of all brides — "I am very excited, a little anxious and a little nervous."

Luci, 19, spoke of her future plans for taking up housekeeping with Nugent, 23, in a small one-story brick duplex house in a "nice neighborhood" where she envisioned doing her own cooking and cleaning and having to keep a strict eye on the budget.

When asked whether she expected Nugent to wash and dry dishes, Luci declared "certainly not." But, she added, "If he wanted to help I don't think I would refuse."

Nugent has a job with an educational consulting firm in Washington. But from what Luci said he will not hold any job immediately after their marriage.

"He has pretty much saved up, because we haven't been going places, and we feel as though we can make it with what we both have right now," Luci explained.

Nugent will work toward his master's degree in business administration. Luci said she will continue undergraduate studies but will not resume her nursing studies. She said she'd like to take typing and shorthand, "which my father considers are the two greatest virtues for a woman to have."

Luci said the house, for which they'll buy furniture after their honeymoon, has a living room, two bedrooms, "none of them very large but they suit our needs", a little dinette, copper-colored kitchen with a copper stove, but no "ice-box" yet.

The duplex — or two units — means the young Nugents will have very close neighbors. When it was suggested they might be the Secret Service, required by law to protect the President's daughter, Luci said "you'd have to ask them." The Secret Service referred the query to the First Lady's press office, where it was noted that giving out such information "defeats the purpose of the Secret Service."

Mrs. Johnson said she wanted the wedding day to be "something beautiful" for Luci to remember and to share with family and close friends.

Newspaper Enterprise Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Pauline Trigere doesn't like very short skirts.

"Tell me," she said. "What's so pretty about a fat knee or a bony one? You would think we would be glad to keep them covered."

"I fought this trend," the Paris-born, New York designer told me. "But it did no good. I had to give in. But only to the knee—no higher."

Things are buzzing in Trigere's Seventh Avenue showroom. It was nearing time for her fall collection to be presented. Phones rang, people bustled in and out of her office and so did Trigere. But in between the bustling and sips of black coffee she gave me her views on fashion.

Pauline Trigere

"I think the kooky youth movement is dying," she said. "These clothes were made to attract attention but not to look good."

"If you hang a sleeve on the back of a dress it will certainly cause heads to turn. But not because it is pretty."

And so disposing of such things as the mod look and peepholes ("gimmicks are not fashion") Pauline Trigere, whose own designs are beautiful and timeless, explained how she believes a woman should plan her wardrobe.

"I am an extravagant girl with the money I have at my disposal," she admitted. "But I am still French enough to feel that things should last. So you have to have a bit of quality. And my taste has always developed around good fabrics as a base for quality. You should always try to buy the best."

Trigere deplores the trend toward buying two inexpensive dresses instead of one good dress and then throwing them out in a very short time.

"I go along with the man who with pride points out that his suit was made in 1946."

"I don't expect my customer to throw away a dress she bought a few years ago, but to add others to it to build a basic wardrobe."

With Trigere's clothes this is entirely possible. Her designs never look anything but current. She had her model put on some dresses, coats and capes she had designed in 1950. They could go anywhere today. One black cocktail dress she made in the '50s even did a good turn for its creator.

"Not long ago," she said, "I was going to a party and didn't know what to wear. I took that dress and put a white satin band on it. It was a sensation."

She gave me a quizzical look from behind her green-tinted glasses. "Of course, I didn't have to wear an old dress. I have lots of clothes. Trigere gives me a good price."

Pauline Trigere designed the first reversible coat in 1942. Today it is a fashion first. The long evening gown in wool was her idea and, she admits, a hard one to sell. Yet today it is considered among the most chic fashions. She pioneered the cape, too, and says that for years women were shy of them. Today everyone is aware of the glamorous, feminine feeling you slip into along with your cape.

Trigere has some advice for women planning a basic evening wardrobe.

"Get one long evening dress (not a ball gown) in red, black or gray. This will give you good wear for about three years. Later you add another, but the red, black or gray dress is still there. It supplies the same need as a man's tuxedo."

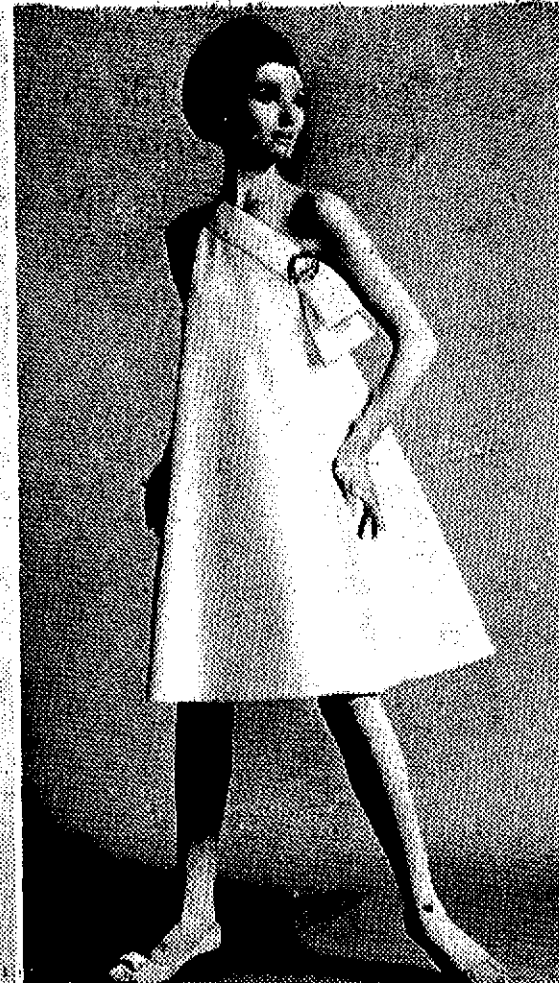

When she travels, she has a full schedule—dinners, radio and television appearances—and must be beautifully turned out for all sorts of occasions. She solves the luggage problem by taking everything in one color so that the number of accessories and make-up items needed is cut to the bone.

On a recent trip to Europe it was all midnight blue. For Palm Beach it was all white. And this kind of thinking can make packing and planning a lark.

Pauline Trigere, who at an early age learned to cut and fit in her father's Paris tailoring shop, came to New York in 1936. She still does all her designing herself and has won every major American fashion award including the fashion world's highest honor, the Coty Hall of Fame Award.

Star quality in any field is the ability to take the stage, attract and then sustain an almost hypnotic attention from the audience.

Season after season Trigere does just that.

FROM THE TRIGERE fall '66 collection come these two timeless creations. Cape with Mephistopheles collar (left) in wool is worn over American Gothic hand-filgred and gold paillettes-embroidered evening dress. The shoulder belt of this full-skirted satin gown (right) exposes one bare shoulder. In lieu of buckle on the shoulder, a miniature coronet of precious stones is used.

While the Nation moves ahead in the establishment of national parks, recreation areas, seashores, monuments, scenic parkways and national rivers, Arkansas has been stalled by unimaginative representation in Congress. PARIS—(NEA)—Even Parisian taxi drivers are talking about Sheila Chancel, which is tantamount to saying she very definitely has arrived.

"For my money," said one middle-aged cabbie recently, "Sheila tops all the ye-ye singers. Her songs appeal to both young and old."

"No posturing, no screaming. Just tunes you can remember and hum, plus a nice personality."

Sheila is a tall, slender, pretty 20-year-old brunette from Auvergne, a girl-next-door type whose records are repeatedly No. 1 in French ratings.

Her first big hit was "Ecoute Ce Disque," which is approaching the two-million mark in sales. Next came "L'Ecole est Finie" (school is out) which is over a million in sales, and then "Le Folklore Americain," which has sold about 750,000 copies.

Her records now are beginning to show up on the British and American charts. In France her voice, style and girlish charm have spawned a magazine, "Journal de Sheila," and soon, a movie, "Les Aventures de Sheila."

It's a pattern much the same as the one that took the Beatles from rock 'n' roll obscurity to worldwide fame.

In fact, the French are so taken by Sheila's singing that they flatly predict big things for her on the international market.

There are strong signs already that the French rock 'n' roll (ye-ye) sound is about to catch on big in the United States. Discoteques and even some disc jockeys are spinning the French sound more and more.

Perhaps Sheila could make it official with a tour of the United States.

"I am just dying to go there," she said, "and I hope I will be very long."

Aileen Reports:

By AILEEN SNODDY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Today's guessing game won't bring any week's supply of groceries or a trip to Paris. But it affects every woman who wears cosmetics.

It seems the amateur psychoanalyst is having a field day with her neighbor's skin complaints. Diagnosing each other's allergies is becoming as much a kaffeeklatsch sport as depriving a psychiatrist of his $25 couch fee once was.

The truth appears to be that most women believe they are allergic to some of their cosmetics. Is this possible?

According to a woman executive for a pharmaceutical firm specializing in skin preparations, no one really knows statistically how many persons have allergies.

It is estimated that 10 to 20 per cent of the population are allergic to something, says Katherine Netting, vice president and director of marketing for Texas Pharmacal Co. Yet, a door-to-door survey by the company revealed that when the door-answerer was asked, "Is anyone in your home allergic?" 50 per cent replied affirmatively.

Were the replies truly reflecting an increase of rashes, wheezes, bumps and boils associated with "an allergic reaction"? Or do they back up the industry's observation that many women say they are allergic to cosmetics although they never have been tested for sensitivity nor told by a doctor they were allergic to their hair spray, lipstick, mascara or perfume?

Many women do react to these products so essential to putting their best faces forward each day. This is why Mrs. Netting is concerned with women's attitudes toward allergies and cosmetics. Her firm is among the four major manufacturers of cosmetics that bear a "frightening, misleading label for most women." These are the hypoallergens.

The four lines—Allercreme, Almay, RX, Marcelle—skim a mere $15 to $20 million off the multibillion dollar cosmetic sales shelf. Their role becomes more important each year, though, since "every new product introduced offers the threat of sensitizing someone."

A noted fellow of the American Academy of Allergy points out that allergy to cosmetics occurs more often than most women realize. At least 15 per cent at some time react to some cosmetic; 9 per cent have dry or cracked lips re-

Cracks in Walls, Ceilings Can Easily Be Repaired

By MR. FIX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Larger cracks and holes need more preparation. All loose and crumbling plaster must be removed. Undercut the edges of a crack so that it is narrower at the surface than below the surface. This will hold in the fresh plaster.

Houses settle, floors sag, wood shrinks and the result is cracks in walls and ceilings. Or a piece of furniture is jammed up against a wall and there's a hole to fill.

These cracks are easily repaired by the homeowner. It's a job that is absolutely necessary before you repaint a wall if you want a finished job.

Use patching plaster, a ready-mix powder that only needs the addition of water. Use this rather than plaster of Paris, which hardens quickly (often too quickly for extensive patching).

Common ingredients that cause the most trouble, Mrs. Netting explains, are perfume that runs through most cosmetics, bromo acid, the fixative that gives staying power to lipstick, and lanolin that seems to add to the allergic load. As she explained, "lanolin seems to jump in when people are feeling poorly and causes more trouble."

In the case of hypoallergenic cosmetics, these culprits are eliminated completely or partially and synthetics substituted, if necessary. This happens when women still insist upon having scented cosmetics. Several years ago a scare over the possibly cancer-producing dyes used in lipsticks brought about a fear situation.

She describes the over-reaction to this as being similar "to a golfer who tries to correct a slice and winds up with a bad hook." Currently, she says, the Toilet Goods Association is testing lipsticks to see what colors should be eliminated and what colors will be all right to use. She says she hopes the problem will be worked out with "calmness and dignity."

Although Mrs. Netting says she can't speak for the giants in the cosmetic industry, she does believe there are few products that kid the public today. "No matter how crass the manufacturer, his business sense would tell him he can't get away with it."

Let's Go Fishin'
BY BOB BREWSTER
Outdoor Editor,

GAME OR PAN?
Many fishermen feel pan fish aren't "game fish," particularly when they have come home from a trip exhausted, frustrated and empty-handed.

While most panfish are hardly known for their sophisticated dining habits, the fishing authorities at Mercury outboards feel their accommodating ways deserve a bit more respect than is ordinarily accorded this group of fishes.

Panfish probably got their title because of skillet-sized proportions. And, while the average sunfish and crappie meet such specifications, walleye and trout often get lumped into the same category, depending on the locality and their dimensions. A host of others also qualify, with the flat-sided species gaining most prominence, or degradation, as it may be.

Despite such labels, these frequently maligned fish have attracted a devoted following who learned through experience that panfishing offers both personal challenge and almost certain results even when regular "pickins" are slim.

The key to enjoyable panfishing lies in tackle and techniques. A two-pounder on featherweight gear will provide all the sport of more prestigious fish on ordinary rigs.

Methods adopted from flycasting purists or top water bass addicts will work equally well. When a sudden strike on a four-inch-long bass lure produces a five-inch breem, it's time to give credit to the "sporting" qualities of these fish, say the boys at Mercury.

The next time you are ignored by your favorite species switch over to panfish for action, and take home a mess of good eating as a welcome bonus.

A Jet-Set Blast at Monte Carlo No Place for the Weary Tourist

HAVING A BALL—Some 700 guests, mostly European society, turned out at the costume ball at the converted Monte Carlo Opera House to celebrate the city's centennial.

By BILL BYERS

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

MONTE CARLO—(NEA)—A retired California farmer and his family, on one of those "See 21 Countries in 21 Days" trips, spent an uncomfortable, sleepless night in the railroad station here.

The family had missed the last train for Spain, only to discover that all the hotel rooms in this tiny principality had been taken over by 700 jet-setters who had flown in for Monte Carlo's Centenary Costume Ball—a spectacular of Old World splendor attended by Prince Ramier III and Princess Grace.

A concerned visitor tried to explain the situation. "You know who Princess Grace is, don't you? She used to be Grace Kelly, the actress," he told the red-eyed farmer. "Never heard of her. I think of actors the same way I think of circus people. Less said about them the better," snarled the farmer, as he joined his family on an early morning train. There was plenty of "circus atmosphere" at the bash. Gina Lollobrigida, for example, shook up the dowagers by revealing as much of Gina as the laws of Monaco allow. And most of the guests were the fun-loving cream of European society.

The Aga Khan's widow, the Begum, arrived by plane. A special train brought her wardrobe and servants. Many ladies of Paris and Rome brought their own hairdressers, yet were annoyed when the beauty salon of the Hotel de Paris was taken over by gentlemen who needed their curls and sideburns clipped.

During the dance, if you had an ear tuned, you could catch such remarks as these:

"There goes the man who owns the Eiffel tower."
"They call him the 'King of the Bids.' He also manufactures all the toilets in France, my dear."
"She used to go with only 70-year-old men. Now she has a 19-year-old lover."

Most agreed the party was a success. As Lady Cooper-Keyes of London put it, "The party was smashing."

It couldn't miss. Thousands of dollars had been spent by the Societe des Bains de Mer, which holds the exclusive concession on the principality's gambling casino.

The Societe had staged the shindig, housed and fed the guests, not only to salute Monte Carlo's 100th anniversary but also to encourage big spenders and bettors to return.

In recent years, European society has bypassed Monaco, a 380-acre "kingdom," in which Monte Carlo is one of its four cities, for more exotic and faraway gambling spas such as Curacao and Las Vegas.

For the ball, the Monte Carlo Opera House, one of the most opulent in Europe, was converted into a posh 1886 setting. Footmen and servants were powdered wigs and served caviar and champagne. A string orchestra played minuets and waltzes. A gypsy orchestra fiddled romantic airs.

And in the garden, on the edge of the Mediterranean, a pink-tented pavilion swayed with rock 'n' roll and the click of $5-minimum slot machines.

If there was a star, it had to be Princess Grace, who floated around in an apricot-colored ante bellum sea of skirts and went out into the garden to nibble on a vanilla ice cream cone. At midnight, she and her bearded prince of 10 years watched the skies fill with a dazzling fireworks display.

But there were two flaws noted during the gala. The croupiers in the Casino next door struck briefly for a bigger cut of the tips.

And, absent from the shindig was Aristotle Onassis, whose huge yacht was prominently parked in the Monte Carlo harbor.

The Greek shipbuilder, a major stockholder in the Societe des Bains de Mer, has locked horns with Monaco's royal family, which wants to buy out his interest in the Casino.

It was assumed that Onassis, like the California farmer, was in no mood for a circus.

Footnotes To Fashion

Remember when you used to work hard to "bring the outdoors in" in order to look as if you knew all the latest decorating trends? Now, just to keep us on our toes, we're told that "out" is no longer "in." If that confuses you, relax — it's supposed to. What it means is the newest trend is to make your outdoor living as comfortable as it is indoors.

Among the unexpected places you will be meeting carpeting is on a boat, around a swimming pool and, more practical for all, in a downstairs recreation room with the carpet running right out to the terrace. The result of this may be a whole new vocabulary: "carpet" tennis, for instance, replacing "lawn" tennis.

Actually, this has a practical side because one of the newest fibers for carpet, Herculon, has proved itself to be almost completely mildew and moisture resistant. This led to a logical step: making a type of this olefin fiber into carpets in several colors which could be used outdoors as well as indoors — and both places at the same time.

Carpeting the outdoors, or using carpet to link indoors and outdoors is such a new concept that some guidelines are needed. They are being provided by the researchers in the fiber development labs at Hercules.

1. Make sure it is made by a reputable manufacturer and marked "indoor-outdoor" carpeting. (Herculon, which makes only the fiber and not the finished carpet, reminds homemakers that the new indoor-outdoor carpeting under various trade names has a special backing which will cling to smooth surfaces such as concrete or tile and that it is a tighter weave, but feels like a natural fiber.)

2. Cleaning a Herculon carpet is easy. It will get wet if it's outdoors but it will not be harmed by water. Most of it will run off just as water runs off the LONDON — (NEA) — Harold Wilson's Labor government is being criticized for its soft attitude towards the Russians over Gerald Brooke, the London teacher who is serving a five-year sentence in Russia for having anti-Soviet leaflets in his possession.

Sick, lonely and frightened, Brooke, 27, has already served a year in the Vladimir jail near Moscow for this trifling offense. Now the British schoolmaster, who is suffering from a stomach disorder, is being transferred to a labor camp to serve the remaining four years of his sentence.

The Soviets have rejected the British Foreign Office request that Brooke be allowed to remain in Vladimir jail, where he has hopes of seeing his wife and of contacting the British consul occasionally. The Russians have also rejected the plea that Brooke be allowed to receive British food parcels to supplement his inadequate prison rations.

Aside from warning British tourists that they risk being arrested for similar trivial offenses if they visit the Soviet Union, the Labor government has shown few signs of standing up to the Kremlin in the Brooke matter.

The London Daily Mail says that the government has behaved with "futile and humiliating impotence," while the Daily Telegraph is shocked by the government's "tone of mild resignation."

The British attitude is being contrasted here to the tough stand taken by the U.S. State Department in the Mott case. Newcomb Mott, 27, a Massachusetts bookseller, allegedly committed suicide last January after being jailed for 18 months for illegal entry into the Soviet Union.

The Russians say that Mott slashed his throat with a razor en route to a labor camp to serve part of his sentence. But the State Department, in a stiff protest note, has demanded that the Russians either produce proof of Mott's suicide or take responsibility for his death.

Brooke knows about the Mott case, and this has served to increase his anxiety about his own transfer to a labor camp.

The outlook for Brooke is admittedly a bleak one. The schoolmaster was originally arrested and tried for smuggling anti-Soviet literature into Russia during a holiday trip. Nothing was said at his trial about espionage, however.

But in a recent article Izvestia claims that Brooke and his wife Barbara were "caught handing over the contents of an espionage-kit," and that Mrs. Brooke was lucky not to be tried with her husband.

The Russian game seems crystal clear. By "upgrading"

Brooke to spy status, the Soviets hope to barter his freedom against the release of Peter and Helen Kroger, the American-born master spies now serving 20 years each for espionage here. So far the British government has re-

Citizens Of Hempstead County:

As your Representative in the Arkansas Legislature, I thank you for your past support and your continued support will be deeply appreciated.

As your Representative and as Chairman of the Roads and Highways Committee of the House of Representatives, it has been my privilege to work with other citizens and officials in bringing about the construction, and programing for immediate construction, the following hard surfaced highways in Hempstead County: (1) from Highway 29 into Patmos; (2) from DeAnn east into Nevada County and on to Prescott; (3) from DeAnn to Marlbrook Church between Blevins and Prescott on Highway 24; (4) from Blevins northeast on Highway 29 to Highway 19 which extends from Prescott to Antoine or Delight; (5) from Washington through Cross Roads to Fulton; and (6) the Millwood Dam Road into Saratoga. Many miles of highways in Hempstead County are yet to be hard surfaced and I will continue to work to bring about these much needed improvements to our highway system. Good highways are essential to our economy and progress.

With the wholehearted support of many many citizens, and over keen competition from other counties in Southwest Arkansas, we succeeded in securing the location of the Red River Vocational Technical School in Hempstead County. This fine Vocational Technical School will both educate and train students to become qualified and skilled workers and will thus assist us in attracting industry to locate in Hempstead County. Although this school is scheduled to be completed in September, we should begin planning for its growth and expansion and I pledge you, that as your Representative and as a member of the Legislative Council, I will be working for this objective when budgets are being considered this Fall for the 1967 Regular Session of the General Assembly.

As was the case in securing the Vocational Technical School, we have brought about the designation of Hempstead County as one of 4 sites of a Regional State Hospital. The announcement of this was recently made and the funds provided by Legislative Act become available on July 1 of this year. This will be a 200 bed hospital and construction should soon get under way. Much can be done in the future for the expansion of this facility and the development of adjacent medical facilities dealing with research, nurses training, and special medical projects. This will, of course, mean additional employment for local citizens. With the experience I have gained as your Representative, I will exert my best efforts for continued growth and expansion of this Regional State Hospital.

One of the largest tourist attractions in Hempstead County exists in Washington. It is the restoration project of Pioneer Washington Restoration Foundation. Some years ago your Representative attended the organizational meeting, was elected to the Board and the office of Secretary, and has and continues to work with and for this Foundation. In a recent year, tourism brought into Arkansas $465,000,000. It was our fifth largest industry. We have learned that the stopping of 24 tourists a day for 365 days will provide a better than $100,000 a year industry. I will continue my efforts in the development of tourism, both privately and publicly.

As your Representative, I will continue to consult with you concerning your desires and interests for the growth and betterment of Hempstead County. Your vote and support will be appreciated.
